The introduction of the Davis Iron Wagon marks the beginning of a new era. It has been adopted by the United States Government as an ARMY WAGON FOR FRONTIER SERVICE

UPON THIS COAST THE DAVIS IRON WAGON

TESTIMONIAL:

Davis Inon Wagon Co.:

Gentlemen: Last year we purchased several of your Gentlemen: Last year we purchased several of your No. I Header Wagons, and after subjecting them to the most thorough practical tests, we find them to be in every sense of the word a success. We used them during last harvest, and they were the easiest running wagons in the outfit. After harvest they were used in handling grain. Though guaranteed for 4,300 pounds, from our experience we are convined that their carrying canocity is only limited by strength of spindle.

The wagons mentioned have been in constant use either as header wagons, back actions, or farm trucks, from the time they were procured to the present day, and save the slight wear of paint and tire, they are in just as good condition as when they left the manufactory. No repairs have been necessary, and the indicaons are that none will be necessary for years to come. The Davis Iron Wagons have been tested in the rainy seasons, and we are informed by our Foreman, Mr. Thomas, that the wheels clopless in the mud, especially in adobe, than those of any other wagon. noming, that the wheels clogies in the mud, especially adobe, than those of any other wagon. In short, the Davis Iron Wagons meet our approval to see an extent that we have adopted them on our anchos, and henceforth shall use no other.

Very truly yours, LOWE & SCOTT.

THE first passage of the brig Wm. G. Irwin was made in remarkably good time—10% days from San Francisco, arriving here on Sunday last. We only remember a very few passages which beat this, and they were by larger vessels, viz: the Conet and Youkes. The brig belongs to the Spreckles line, and is said to have handsome passenger accommodation.

On the morning of the Fourth seven drunks were called up before Police Judge Bickerton, and on the morning of the fifth there were twelve for the same offense, and in addition to these there were seven for gaming, four for fast riding, five for afray and assault and battery, one for driving without lights, one for disturbing the quiet of the night and one for largeny.

On Sunday, Mr. C. Macfarlane drove out to brother, Major G. Macfarlane drove out to brother, Major G. Macfarlane. Something started the horse when standing at C. They will return to the Gaiety Theatre here on July 25th, the interim being occupied by Mr. Wybert Reeve's Dramatic Company." That the singing of Miss Annis Montague and Mr. Charles Turner are fully appreciated by the people of Sydney, the following from the Daily Telegraph of June 11th will show: "The last but one of the operatic performances of the Montague-Turner Company was given at the Gaiety Theatre last evening as a complimentary benefit to the prima doma, Miss Annis Montague. The astonishing rate at which tickets were disposed of, and seats reserved during the week, led the management to transfer a portion of the stalls into orchestra chairs, and to make all the additional accommodation possible. Fully an hour before the commencement of the performance the vestibule and front of the theatre were besieged with people desirous of admission, and within a very little time after the theatre was opened every part of the auditorium was filled to the numost. People continued to press into the building until all available standing room was occupied, many persons contenting themselves with learing the performance, without seeing the performers. It is estimated that some 500 people had to turn away, being unable to gain admission." THE Clergy and Church Wardens of St. Andrews

"Swelled-leg" in Chinese.

The following in regard to the disease among Chinese known as "swelled-leg," is from the private correspondence of a physician on Hawaii who has had considerable experience with cases of the kind.

has had considerable experience with cases of the kind:

WATCHINU, July 1st, 1881.

DEAR SIR:—Mr. G. read to me a letter you sent him in reference to the sick Chinamen on the plantation, and he has kindly granted me permission to write to you on that subject. My object is to inform you that, from the beginning, I have been doing all in my power to arrest the endemic and to cure those already taken ill. Everything mentioned in your letter I recommended at the very outset, such as: isolation, nourishing diet, milk, beef tea, vegetables—particularly cabbage—stimulants where the circulation is feeble, and to give such medicines as I thought each individual case required, and all to have stimulating liniments well rubbed into the extremities twice daily. Electricity I had used in some of the first cases that occurred in the district which was on Naslehu plantation. It was applied for some seven or eight days, with what I thought a good effect.

That the disease is a form of paralysis beginning in the lower limbs, and in the fatal cases gradually extending upwards and finally invading the whole muscular frame, there is not quite so clear. In my own mind I feel pretty wall satisfied that it is produced by the food and mode of living of Chinamen on plantations in general. The peanut oil, the half-putrified sausages, the salted fat pork and above all, the total deviation of vege-
